Game on! Prep basketball season begins

They spend hours each week practicing jump shots, layups and dribbling.

They willingly run laps and memorize offensive and defensive plays.

And then there is game day, when all that is learned in practice is either perfectly executed on the court or lost in the shadow of a better team.

Prep basketball is big in Lake County.

And this week, the Lake County Journals is highlighting 18 area teams in a special section called "Alley-oop!"

Kathy Gresey

Girls and boys clubs from Antioch, Lakes, Grant, Warren, Grayslake North, Grayslake Central, Round Lake, Wauconda, and Carmel appear in the "Alley-oop!" publication.

Reporters and photographers spent several weeks interviewing players and coaches for the section.

Featured athletes include Warren senior Brandon Paul, who recently signed a letter of intent to play basketball at the University of Illinois; and Wauconda senior Lauren Mead, who has signed a letter of intent to shoot hoops at Lewis University.

A two-page photo spread also appears in the section, as well as information about each team's upcoming home games.

Want to learn more about the high school varsity team in your area?

Check out "Alley-oop!"

Who knows. Some of the local athletes who appear in the section might one day play for a top Division 1 college program or possibly in the pros.

Relief planned for Route 83 drivers

By COLIN SELBO
cselbo@nwnewsgroup.com

ANTIOCH - Drivers on Route 83 in northern Lake County have waited a long time to hear these five words: Help is on the way.

Following an announcement that $20 million in state funds had been secured for a road improvement plan on Route 83, preparation is underway for the project.

Work is scheduled to begin in June 2009 and expected to be completed by 2010.

The project will focus on the 4.6-mile stretch of Route 83 between Petite Lake Road and the Wisconsin state line.

The road goes through the villages of Antioch and Lake Villa.

Plans call for the widening of the highway in order to add a center turning lane, and the modernization of traffic signals and intersections along the route.

Additional work also will be completed on the drainage system surrounding the highway.

State Sen. Michael Bond, D-Grayslake, who was instrumental in bringing in money for the project, said the Illinois Department of Transportation and local officials will work to move quickly on the project and minimize delays for drivers.

"This project has been on the list for nine years now," Bond said. "It's currently a two-lane system that's kind of outdated and inadequate."

With slowdowns on Route 83 often resulting from motorists seeking to turn onto adjacent side streets, the addition of a bi-directional turn lane is critical to improve traffic flow, said Jacek Tyszkiewicz, a project implementation engineer for IDOT.

What really blocks traffic on a two-lane roadway is people trying to make that left turn," he said.

Tyszkiewicz, whose staff will facilitate the building of the project, said engineers will work to keep traffic moving along Route 83 throughout the construction process.

"The challenge is maintaining traffic and giving the contractor room to build [the highway]," he said. "[Construction] does affect the community at-large until it does get built. Getting there is painful."

Although additional slowdowns are a natural part of large construction projects, the highway still will operate as two-lane road, with north and south traffic flow continuing during the project, Bond said.

Considering the difficulty in securing construction funds without a state capitol bill, Bond said he has spent much of his time in Springfield learning the intricacies of the budgeting process.

"It's very difficult to do without a capitol bill," Bond said. "The trick is to understand the budget and have the resources in Springfield get allocated."

Local officials react positively

Antioch Mayor Dorothy Larson said the road improvements are a welcome relief for her community.

"This is excellent news. We have been lobbying our legislators for a year and a half to do something about this issue," Larson said. "There is just one pothole after another. Our residents look like drunk drivers because they are swerving to avoid potholes."

Lake Villa Mayor Frank Loffredo said he expects the project will alleviate a lot of the problems with congestion on Route 83.

"[The] northern corridor only gets heavier with traffic," Loffredo said. "Parts of the day it's like a parade. You might as well start waving because you're certainly not moving."

Limiting the affects of the project on local businesses is a priority, Bond said, and town hall meetings will be scheduled in the future to keep residents informed throughout the project.

"We want to make sure we have the least impact on business traffic as possible," he said.

Lake County Senior
Makes a Difference

Dorothy Schildgen, is a resident of Hillcrest Nursing Center in Round Lake Beach. She decided it was time to get busy after hearing the plea of President Bush for all Citizens to volunteer and help their fellow Americans.

After contacting the Red Cross, Dorothy realized that she could not give blood due to her medical condition and being on Medicaid made it impossible to give money. Dorothy remembered watching a special television program about Locks of Love, a non-profit organization that provides hairpieces to financially disadvantage children that are suffering from long-term hair loss. Hair loss may be due to injury, radiation treatment or other medical conditions. Dorothy realized that donating her hair would help restore the confidence and self-esteem of someone suffering from long-term hair loss.

Locks of Love which began operation in 1998, provides the hairpieces to children every eighteen months for a total of eight hairpieces. These hairpieces take approximately six months to manufacture and require up to ten ponytails for each one. It is estimated that children comprise over eighty percent of the donors, making this a charity where children have an opportunity to help children.

Dorothy knew when she watched this program that Locks of Love was something she would like to do and hearing President Bush's plea confirmed her decision.

Dorothy liked her hair short and it took about seven years for it to grow long enough to reach the minimum ten inches needed. Her dedication has been an inspiration to many residents and staff members of Hillcrest. When asked if it was difficult to wait several years for her hair to grow, Dorothy replies "Not at all, my hair was a special gift for someone special." Dorothy also stated, "It was also a lot of fun and I enjoyed receiving nice compliments from the staff as they would brush and braid my hair." When her hair was finally long enough to be cut, she wanted to donate her hair on the anniversary of when she first decided to help Locks of Love. This is just another way that nursing home residents are making a difference. Dorothy has resided at Hillcrest for over eighteen years and all correspondence may be sent to her at 1740 N. Circuit Dr. Round Lake Beach, Illinois 60073. For more information about Locks of Love, you may contact them at 561-833-7332 or view their web site at

Creativity flourishes

Local entrepreneurs create custom T-shirts

By COLIN SELBO

cselbo@nwnewsgroup.com

ANTIOCH - Even though they don't have a fancy storefront or corporate offices, three local residents are not letting that stop them from expressing creativity through their own small business.

Sherri Cascone, Donna Mathias and Ellen Moser of Antioch are partners in a unique business venture they call Forbidden Butterfly. Working out of Cascone's basement, the three produce custom T-shirts for area sports teams, organizations and anyone looking for a creative outlet.

"We take great pride in our work. If we find a little flaw in something, then we throw it out and start again," Mathias said. "It's very satisfying to see someone out there wearing your shirt."

Cascone and Mathias started Forbidden Butterfly four years ago as a lingerie and swimwear shop in downtown Antioch. But they realized there was more demand in a different form of apparel.

"It seemed like there was more of a need for T-shirts than anything else," Cascone said. "We had a lot of people asking for custom T-shirts."

The three feel that part of the appeal clients get in working with Forbidden Butterfly is the personal attention they can provide customers, which might not be possible working with larger companies.

"They know who they are talking to," Cascone said. "We'll go out and bring our computers."

Clients need not have a logo or design in mind, Cascone said, in order for the three to create a custom T-shirt. Moser functions as a graphic designer for the group and gives clients various possibilities for the T-shirt before making a final design.

"[Moser] will come up with two or three designs, and you can change what you want," Cascone said. "We just give her an idea, and she runs with it."

Among her most unique designs, Moser said, was a team logo for a local sports team with an electric jellyfish mascot.

"There aren't a lot of stock electric jellyfish logos out there," she said.

However, all three women generally take part in the creative aspects of the job,

Mathias said, and their children even get in on the collaborative efforts.

"We have all different spectrums that we bounce ideas off of," Mathias said.

Even though the trio does not appear to mind working out of a basement, there are plans to grow and expand the business in the future.

"We're hoping to eventually have a storefront. We're working our way up," Cascone said. "We're just starting to branch out and spread our wings."

Sequoits advance to state semifinals

By COLIN SELBO

cselbo@nwnewsgroup.com

ANTIOCH - Houdini may have passed on long ago, but it's possible his spirit lives on in the Antioch High School football team.

For the second week in a row, the Sequoits won by a point in overtime, this time a 28-27 come-from-behind victory over Glenbard South. Antioch's magical season will continue at least one more week when the No. 2 Sequoits take on No. 1 seed Lemont High School at 6 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 22.

Head coach Brian Glashagel was ecstatic his team has secured a place in the semifinals of the state playoffs, regardless of how the Sequoits managed to pull off the victory.

"You'll take it any way you get it," Glashagel said. "If we win every game by one, we're state champs. It doesn't matter how we get the job done."

The game easily could have ended up as a season ending loss for Antioch.

Overtime began with the Sequoits digging deep into their playbook. A touchdown pass from senior running back Cameron White to senior quarterback Matt Romani, followed by a successful extra point, put Antioch up by seven.

Glenbard South responded with a touchdown of its own, but failed to convert the PAT, giving Antioch the victory and sparking a wild celebration on the field by the Sequoits.

However, the excitement started much earlier in the game for Antioch. With the Sequoits down 21-14 midway through the third quarter, Antioch began a drive on its own three-yard line. On second down, White fumbled a pitch in the end zone and was promptly surrounded by several Glenbard South defenders. But the senior somehow escaped the onslaught, and managed to avoid a potentially game-changing safety.

On the following play, White caught a 15-yard pass from Romani for a first down. The Sequoits proceeded to march down the field, and tied the game on a 26-yard touchdown run from junior running back DeVonte Miller.

Glashagel said he had no idea how White managed to avoid the safety on the decisive play at the start of the drive.

"There is no one I have coached in 14 years that could get out of that end zone," he said.

Antioch had a chance to win the game at the end of regulation, but White fumbled on Glenbard South's four-yard line with nine seconds remaining. The fumble was the fourth Sequoit turnover of the game.

Those turnovers prevented what could have been a much larger victory for Antioch, Glashagel said.

"I still feel we could have won that game by two or three scores. We made it way closer than it needed to be," he said.

Regardless, the wild ride will continue another week for a team and a school that want nothing less than a trip to Champaign, and a chance at a state title.

"It's unbelievable," Glashagel said. "I have to stop and get a check on where I'm at."

Antioch man becomes Lake Villa chief

By COLIN SELBO

cselbo@nwnewsgroup.com

LAKE VILLA – Ron Roth has known his whole life he was cut out to be a police officer.

"I'm actually living my childhood dream. How many people can say they've been able to experience their dream?" Roth said.

Officially taking over duties as chief of the Lake Villa Police Department on Nov. 3, the post is another chapter in a long career of policing for Roth.

During his 30-plus years of work as a police officer – 28 of them with the Antioch Police Department – Roth has seen the law enforcement profession develop dramatically.

"When I first started out, we didn't even have portable radios. You just had a radio in the car," he said.

The Antioch resident takes over the Lake Villa force after serving as chief of the Hainesville Police Department since January of 2008.

Prior to his work in Hainesville, Roth briefly worked part-time with the Lake Villa department, from September 2007 to December 2007.

While with the Hainesville department, he was given the task of creating a fully operational police force, a process Roth describes as "a large challenge."

"It gave me an opportunity that is kind of rare, to start a police department from scratch," he said. "I've never found a published book or literature on how to do that."

Replacing retiring chief Roger Visconti, Roth said one of his top priorities is building a relationship with residents and businesses in Lake Villa.

A strong believer in giving residents an opportunity to bring concerns directly to him, Roth employs a philosophy he calls, "community policing."

Roth said he wants residents to feel they can approach officers and believes in treating the public like it is a customer to a corporation.

"It's always been my goal that the residents and businesses take pride in their police department, and that there is always open communication," Roth said. "As a police chief, it's my position to actually lead this department in the direction that will give Lake Villa the best possible service we can provide."

One way for the police department to maintain and improve community relations, Roth said, is through the police liaison program at area schools.

"That breaks the ice between the youth and the police department," he said of the program.

Additionally, Roth is planning to increase the neighborhood watch program in Lake Villa and start a bicycle patrol program.

"I've already had officers approach me and say they'd be interested in [bicycle patrols]," he said.

Reaction to Roth's appointment has been positive from officers at the Lake Villa department.

"He is patrolman friendly. He enjoys being a policeman," said Mark Martino, a nine-year veteran of the department.

"[Roth's] vision has the full support of our officers."

Mayor Frank Loffredo said he is pleased with how the transition to a new chief has gone for the village.

"[Roth] hit the street running. I think it's been very positive; he's got a lot of things in motion," Loffredo said. "He's a consummate professional. That certainly is mirrored in his analytical approach to the transition."

As he continues to settle into the new position, Roth will continue with the same values that got him to where he sits now.

"I've always treated the public as I would want to be treated," he said.

"That's gone a long way for me."

Floor Decor Carpet One

Floor Decor Carpet One opened its first store in 1998 and has since moved to its current location at 1870 E. Grand Ave. Dan and Andrea Immar, along with the entire staff, have a vision of uniqueness in today's retail environment. They opened the doors with the main objective of "serving the customer." There are many stores where the customer can shop for the product. Service is a different story. They believe that a customer is more than what they mean to the bottom line. We want our customers to know that they are valued and cared for by the entire staff at Floor Decor Carpet One. That has been our focus since the inception of our business.

They made the decision to join Carpet One in 2003 based on the superior products, exclusive brands, consumer financing offers and options, along with the international buying power that they offered. Carpet One is the largest floor covering retailer in the United States and Canada with more than 1,000 stores. Its warranties are unmatched in the industry.

In 2007, they opened a second location in Lake Zurich at 465 S. Rand Rd. and offer free in-store professional licensed designer assistance at both locations. The company is proud to be able to serve the community and look forward to the continuation of building friendships with valued clients. The Immars thank you for your support, and hope you'll give them a chance to be your "One Store For Your Perfect Floor."

CLC hosts exhibit of French artist's work

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

On display

GRAYSLAKE – An art exhibit by Paris-born artist David Gista will be displayed at the College of Lake County through Dec. 15.

The exhibit is titled "David Gista: Fictions," and is at the Robert T. Wright Gallery of Art, 193531 W. Washington St., in Grayslake.

Gista's work explores isolation and alienation. He places figures with their backs to the viewer, in libraries between the confining spaces of shelves of books.

At 44, Gista has established his career in the United States and Europe. Having studied art at the Ecole des Beaux Arts in Paris,

• Gallery hours are 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday; 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday; and 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday
• For information, call 847-543-2240

Gista combines classical fine arts training with modernity and a running commentary on contemporary life.

"Fictions" seems to fit like a glove in the College of Lake County's gallery space," wrote curator Steve Jones in the exhibit catalog. "The artist's paintings and works on paper depict images of library interiors with towering shelves of books."

"Club Dumas" by David Gista will be on display at the College of Lake County through Dec. 15.

State program fills gap in Medicare

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

Seniors and other Medicare recipients have until Dec. 31 to change prescription drug plans for 2009 as part of the Medicare Part D open enrollment period.

Gov. Rod Blagojevich encouraged seniors and people with disabilities to apply for the Illinois Cares Rx program, which provides additional drug coverage.

In 2009, the standard Medicare Part D program will pay 75 percent of prescription drug costs up to $2,700 after a $295 deductible. The program also pays for 95 percent of prescription costs above $6,153.75. But beneficiaries are responsible for all of their prescription costs between $2,700 and $6,153.75.

To apply for Illinois Cares Rx, applicants should have their Social Security number, amount of property taxes paid in 2007, amount of rent paid in 2007, and a copy of 2007 federal tax returns available. Call the Illinois Department on Aging's Senior Helpline at 800-252-8966, the Senior Health Insurance Program counseling service at 800-548-9034, or visit www.illinoiscaresrx.com to apply or learn more.

Dr. Brian Gniadek & Associates
in the Linden Plaza in Lindenhurst

Local Anesthesia

Novocain is the name for one of the first local anesthetics developed, and has become the universal name for all locals. There are now many products which produce rapid, complete, and safe local anesthesia. They may contain a small amount of epinephrine (synthetic adrenaline). Epinephrine constricts the blood vessels to reduce the blood flow in the area, so that less anesthetic solution may be used and still produce profound anesthesia for a longer period.

Since an anesthetic with epinephrine produces deeper, longer-lasting anesthesia, it also reduces the patient's anxiety. Since anxiety induces the body to secrete its own adrenaline, nothing is gained by avoiding epinephrine. On the contrary, if the anesthetic wears off too soon and pain is experienced, more natural adrenaline will be pumped into the bloodstream than the small amount contained in the anesthetic solution. Check your physician so that he/she can work with your dentist if you have any concerns.

Does Long Grove really need a TIF?

One of the referendums at the recent election was an advisory one asking Long Grove voters if they favored the creation of a tax increment financing district. It was meaningless because the village board approved the TIF district in February.

Nonetheless, the voters by a whopping 1 percent to 39 percent rejected the plan. Perhaps the vote was more than symbolic because it showed the board wasn't taking into account the will of the people; instead, it advanced the interests of developers.

When I learned some time ago that Long Grove was discussing TIF for downtown development, I thought it was another case of subverting the original intent of the TIF law. The intent was to aid communities to bring back blighted areas.

Can anyone with a straight face say that any part of Long Grove is a blighted area? Of course not. The facts are that developers are the principal beneficiaries of TIF districts.

I'm sure that the Long Grove TIF opponents also asked the question: Could the area have been developed even if a TIF district was not established? The success of downtown Long Grove, especially as a tourist attraction, convinces me that developers don't need public subsidies to locate there.

TIF law as a way to resurrect blighted area started on the wrong foot. The first TIF in Illinois was in Highland Park. Show me where in Highland Park there was a blighted area.

I'm told that Waukegan's first volley in the use of TIF as a development tool was to help subsidize a Walgreens store. Now, there's a corporation that really needs public aid. Oh, yeah.

There's so much wrong with TIFs. Local taxpayers are shortchanged in the long run, and schools are negatively impacted. In a sense, TIFs operate under a cloak of secrecy. Are the taxpayers ever informed of the revenues or expenses of their TIFs or which corporations are benefiting from public financing? If there was transparency, the public would be outraged at who is really making out at the use of public funds.

I hail the objectors to the Long Grove TIF district. Although their public servants haven't listened to them, the advisory referendum may wake up residents in other areas where TIF districts are being considered that the public has a right to openness during every step of the process.

Dancers set to present holiday show

LAKE COUNTY JOURNALS

GRAYSLAKE - Celebrate the holidays with the College of Lake County's Prairie Spirits Dance Troupe as it presents its Holiday Dance show Dec. 5 through 7.

Guest choreographers from around the country have helped CLC faculty create an original and innovative dance theater extravaganza for the whole family.

During the presentation, make a journey with character Clara, as she travels beyond "The Nutcracker" in search of the true meaning of Christmas and other celebrations around the world.

The show's artistic director is Terry Crews, CLC dance instructor, who has taught nearly 50 dancers in the show.

Guest artists include Jeri Beckard Gatch of Cincinnati Contemporary Dance Theater, choreographing an inspiring work set to a modern piece of choral music; and Laniya Lancaster, a CLC graduate and adjunct instructor, who choreographed several gospel music-inspired pieces for the show.

"The concert opens with a Christmas party, where there are dances of the toy pirates and toy dolls," Crews said in a release. "After a fight breaks out between a brother and sister, the grandfather pulls them aside to read them a story about the true meaning of the holidays. Thus the story unfolds."

"Clara leads the journey, witnessing each dance in the story. The audience will enjoy classic favorites and exciting new choreography in a show designed to portray the joys of the season in dance."

The Holiday Dance Show will be presented at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 5 and 6 and at 2 p.m. on Dec. 7 at the Mainstage Theatre of the James Lumber Center for the Performing Arts at the College of Lake County Grayslake Campus, 9351 W. Washington St.

Tickets cost $11 for the public; $9 for CLC students, alumni, staff, JLC subscribers and seniors and 65 and older; and $5 for children younger than 12.

For tickets, visit the CLC Box Office in the James Lumber Center, call 847-543-2300 or buy tickets online at clc-illinois.edu/tickets.

Common chemical affects people, pets

Uses of pyrethrin remain prevalent

By SARAH SUTSCHEK
ssutschek@nwnewsgroup.com

Rising problem

When giving your pet a bath or flea treatment, a local veterinarian says to check the label.

A recent study shows that the number of reported human health problems of a chemical found in many lawn-care and flea-treatment products are on the rise, and the local picture presents it as an issue among pets, too.

But the Illinois Poison Center considers pyrethrin safe for humans - when used as directed.

Pyrethrins and the synthetic version, called pyrethroids, are used widely in lice shampoos, flea and tick killers, and other insecticides, such as roach and ant sprays. The chemicals also are used in some medications, including scabies treatments, said Carol DesLauriers, a pharmacist and clinical service manager for the Illinois Poison Center.

"If you see a lot of reports on pyrethrins, it's only because they're everywhere," DesLauriers said. "The only thing that can possibly happen is if exacerbates asthma or allergies because they are derived from plants."

The Center for Public Integrity analyzed records from the Environmental

Pyrethrin accidental exposure calls to the Illinois Poison Center:

2007:	632
2006:	699
2005:	552
2004:	575
2003:	482

Protection Agency filed by pesticide manufacturers and found that pyrethrin and pyrethroids accounted for more than 26 percent of all fatal, major and moderate human incidents in 2007, up from 15 percent in 1998.

DesLauriers said the chemical was safe for humans, but Dr. Dan Markwalder, a veterinarian at Animal Care Clinic in Algonquin, said animals were a different story.

"This is a really old drug that should not be used on animals because nowadays there are so many more safer products out there," Markwalder said.

But the number of negative reactions to pyrethrin is decreasing, Markwalder said. He now sees fewer than 10 cases each year, compared with as many as 60 cases a year 10 years ago.

Death from pyrethrin exposure is rare in animals but can happen if left untreated, Markwalder said.

Getting a bit pet peeved

There's tons written about becoming a first-rate step-parent to your new spouse's kids, but not much on becoming a good step-parent to your new spouse's dog. That's a niche waiting to be filled, and I should know because my efforts at canine step-parenting should earn me at least 15 minutes on "Animal Planet." Believe me, it was no easy feat taking on a dog that would have preferred I'd just disappear.

To make matters worse, I had to leave my own little Westie with my ex after our divorce. I missed my dog terribly, so when I was to meet my step-dog-to-be, Feisty, on the first visit to my future spouse's house, I was elated. As soon as I heard the familiar high-pitched bark of a small terrier, nostalgia overtook me. I picked up the hyper white dog, expecting the unconditional love I'd gotten from my first dog. Instead, he bit me. The name "Feisty" should have been a clue.

I eventually married Feisty's father and moved into his house. My new husband had lived without womanly nagging for years, which allowed him to believe a grungy plaid couch, originally in a dentist's waiting area, was OK for his living room. Feisty slept on the former dental-office couch.

I came to the marriage with a light-beige velvet couch, which Feisty eyed. I didn't want to get my new stepmother/step-dog live-in relationship off to a bad start, so I hesitated to challenge his sleeping choice. However, the sight of him sniffing at velvet made me queasy. Then, in a moment of stupidity, I allowed him to test our bed.

I could envision his pea-sized brain thinking, "Hey, this is way cooler than any couch!" Once up there, he shared our marital bed for the rest of his life.

Even though the three of us became a sleeping unit, Feisty ignored me during waking hours, which for him weren't all that many. Still, I felt slighted. I thought walking him might bond us so I attached his leash and expected us to saunter down the street without incident. Instead he rotated like a whirling dervish, looking somewhat like an undignified version of a circus dog dancing on its hind legs. It isn't easy walking a revolving dog.

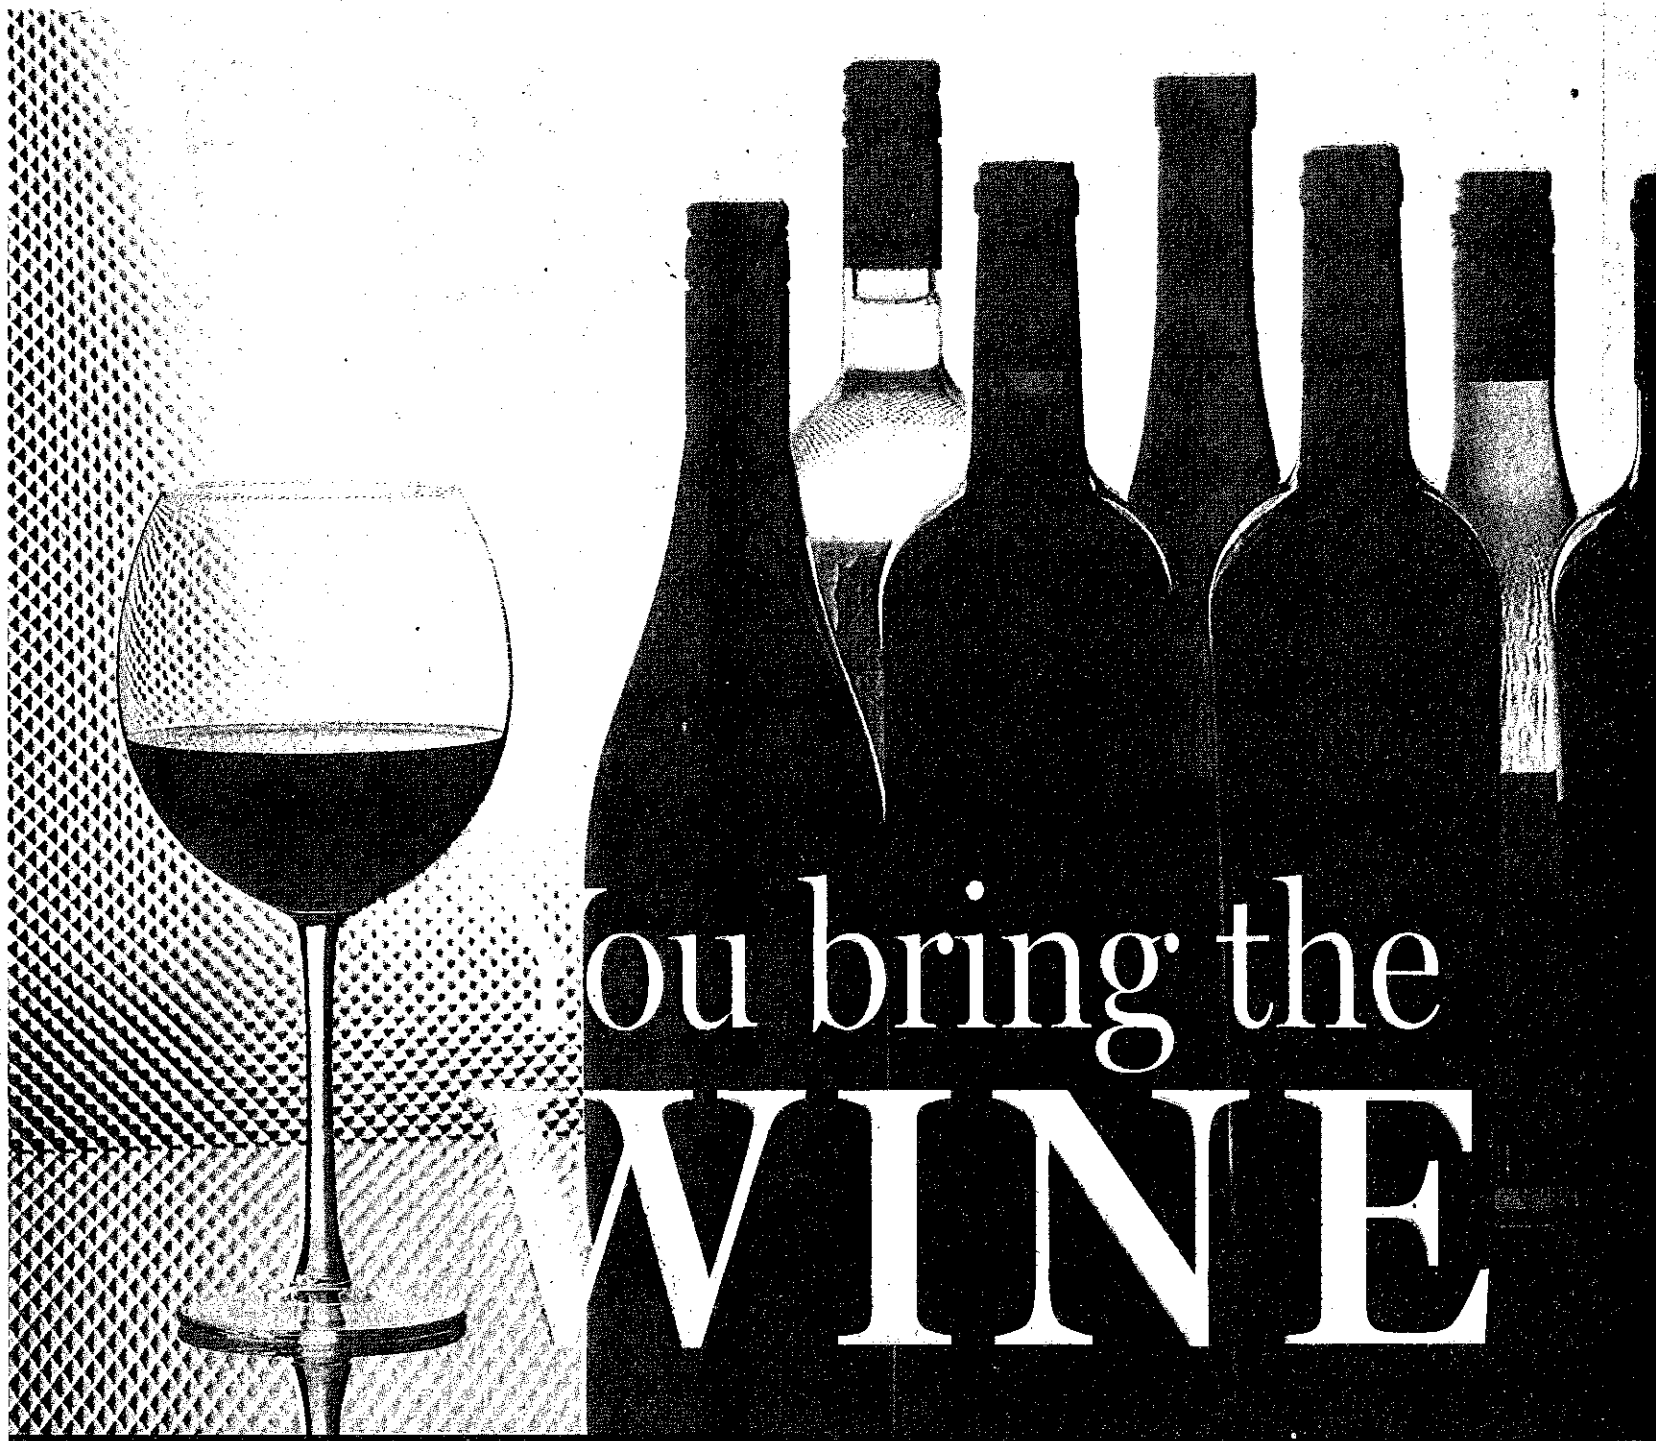

Feisty grew older and less feisty, which allowed us to live in measured harmony. Still, having survived the challenging years, I offer a couple of tips for those considering parenting a step-dog:

1. Leave the discipline to the dog's "real" parent. Of course if the dog lifts his leg in the house, especially if he lifts it on you, and your spouse is not home, you can politely say, "I'd prefer you not do that."

2. If the dog is not "fixed," gets loose, and "starts a family," accept the grand puppies with open arms.

And, when you wonder why on earth you have a dog, natural or step, remember the existential philosophy of Gertrude Stein, "I am I because my little dog knows me."

You bring the WINE

Andy Andresky shares some favorite bottles

In 2008, wines from Spain, Chile and Argentina have weakened the exporting strength of countries such as France and Australia.

These new vineyards abroad bring a cache of new finds.

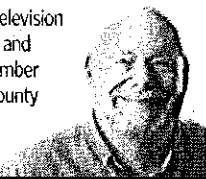

White grapes, such as albarino, trajadura, viognier and torrentes are taking center stage.

Red grapes teroldego and mencia are now being shared around the planet. Both are indigenous vines, meaning they are native vines grown in vineyard plots in Italy and Spain. For years, these two grapes stayed local.

Red blend meritage will celebrate its society's 20th anniversary this year and continue to impress wine enthusiasts. Champagnes and sparkling wines are rising. Sales levels are nearing the high-point that they reached in 2000.

ABOUT ANDY:

Owner of the 1776 restaurant in Crystal Lake, Andresky is a wine consultant for area businesses and teaches wine tasting and appreciation classes. He is the co-host of the cable television show "Wine Talk," and also is a board member of the McHenry County Department of Health.

than 100 acres are now planted to this Western Australian vine.

This year there are two top lists: Great wines on a budget and wines worth busting the budget for.

GREAT WINES ON A BUDGET:

2005 Trentadue Winery Old Patch Red $16, Sonoma County

This rich blend of 70 percent zinfandel, 20 percent petite sirah, 5.5 percent carignane and 4.5 percent syrah, has the mouth feel that more expensive wines seek. It forms a wonderful aroma.

2007 Auratus Albarino and Trajadura $16, Portugal

Refreshing, lemony and packed with a wallop of intense fruit, these two grapes make a great pairing and complement many foods terrifically. Hard to have just a glass.

2006 Alto 3 Reserve Cabernet Sauvignon $13, Argentina

Robust, round, smooth and heavy flavor. Not a light wine, it's perfect with red meat. Made with 100-percent organically grown grapes.

2006 Klinker Brick Old-Vine Zinfandel $13, Lodi

Black raspberry flavor with full-bodied style that comes from a hot-growing climate. Big cocktail wine.

2007 Cono Sur Vision Pinot Noir $16, Chile

It's self-proclaimed as the first zero-carbon footprint winery in the world. And the wine's very good, too.

2007 Elsa Bianchi Torrontes $12, Chile

This honey of a wine is smooth with no after taste. It's dry enough to forget all those oaky chardonnays and light pinot grigio styles.

2006 337 Cabernet Sauvignon $13, Lodi

This well-made cab will compliment food.

2006 Esser Merlot $11, California

Blueberry and hints of fig dominate. This wine will fool many because it can take some cellar time. Try it in three or four years.

Non-Vintage Borgo Magredo Prosecco $17, Italy

This sparkling wine has delicate bubbles and a wash of honey and ginger that will compliment Asian, Mexican, Thai and other spicy foods.

Throwing a Green Party

(MS) - When the topic of going green is discussed, the focus is typically on ways to be more fuel- and energy-efficient. While those are certainly two effective ways to help the environment, there are a host of other ways to go green as well.

Fortunately, going green is often very easy, and simply requires a few minor changes to produce major benefits. One way to go green, especially in the heart of the summer party season, is to make your parties a green affair. Doing so won't make your parties any less fun, but will make them a lot more environmentally friendly.

• Ditch disposable tableware. Particularly in the summer months, when gatherings are often outdoors, disposable utensils, plates, and cups are the norm. However, such products are often very wasteful. In lieu of paper plates, use inexpensive plastic, reusable plates. The same can be done with the utensils, as throwaway plastic utensils can be replaced with inexpensive and reusable metal utensils. No one expects you to use the fine china outdoors, but reusable and inexpensive tableware is an easy and effective way to be more environmentally-conscious.

• Use cloth hand towels instead of items such as napkins and paper towels. Napkins and paper towels are very wasteful, especially when other items such as cloth towels and napkins are just as effective, and reusable, too.

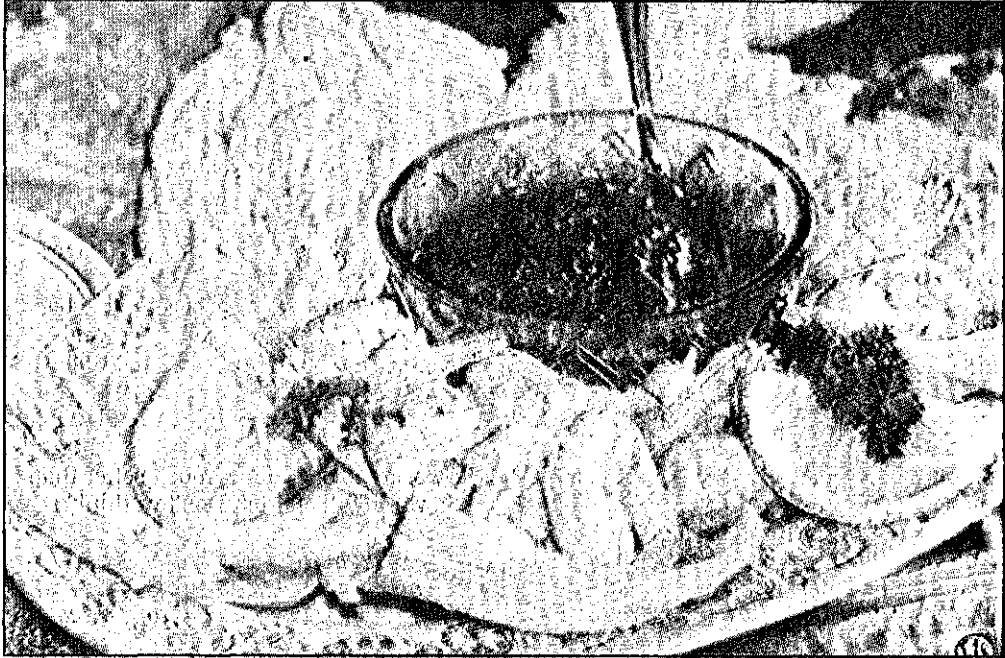

• Consider a new menu. In-season foods and organic fruits and vegetables are better for the environment and better for your health as well. Instead of standard fare, serve as much of these foods as possible.

Also, if you have more guests than you do reusable dishes, consider serving finger foods that don't require the use of disposable paper plates. Cookies, cupcakes, and cheese and crackers, are all acceptable fare for a party, and will lessen your reliance on disposable serving dishes and utensils.

• Send out electronic invitations instead of invites. Emailed invites are not only more environmentally friendly, they're also a party planner's best friend. Instead of using all that paper for invitations, save the cost of paper and stamps and make your invitations online. Web sites such as www.invite.com offer free invitations that can be e-mailed en masse, saving you the hassle of getting everyone's mailing address and all the necessary envelopes and stamps while helping the environment in the meantime.

Finger foods like shrimp cocktail are party favorites that are also green-friendly, as they don't require the use of disposable paper plates.
